THOMAS RAKES

Are just a little different than any other rake made. They are made of the best material obtainable, as well as the heaviest, all cast parts being made of malleable iron and the head of angle steel. The teeth are extra heavy and are made from crucible steel, oil tempered. The dumping arrangement is in a class by itself, there being nothing on any other rake just exactly like it. All wearing parts are protected from the dust and dirt, insuring long life, and at the same time most accessible. A letter, phone call or personal visit from you will give you a practical demonstration of this rake.
